

Mr MB Joshi participates in EPC Day Panel Discussion...

Mr MB Joshi, our Technical Advisor - Automation & Electrical Engineering participated in a Panel Discussion at the India EPC Day 2019 organized by Honeywell India, technology and innovation solutions providers in Mumbai in the first week of June 2019.

The thought forum addressed many concerns for the EPC business and entities today – Digital Strategies, Innovation and Digital Tools and Systems. These included challenges for EPC companies to meet shortened project cycles and budgets through faster responses driven by digitalization. Panel members discussed such aspects as automation of manual processes, improvement in loop checking methodology, strategy for change management, making plant operation data available to experts across locations during commissioning for trouble shooting, and digitization of documents.

The forum also included presentations on Advances in Control and Safety Systems, PLC Systems, Electricity Control Systems and Telecom & Security Systems and new solutions being offered by Honeywell. The dais was shared by eminent experts in the field of automation and innovation. The event provided a valuable forum for networking.
